BULLETIN OF THE MONTH

Your money's worth in foods
Home and Garden Bulletin No. 183

This revised bulletin provides the homemaker with basic information essential to planning and purchasing food for good nutrition. It tells how to plan well-balanced meals within various food budgets and suggests reasonable amounts to spend for food. The bulletin also provides meal planning guides, food shopping tips, and tools for comparing costs of food.

FARMERS' BULLETINS

Father-son agreements for operating farms. (F 2179) 18 p. 30¢.

This slightly revised bulletin describes the kinds of agreements that father and sons can make for operating farms—project, enterprise, wage and income-sharing and joint-operation agreements. It discusses the factors that should be considered and decisions that should be made before an agreement is drawn up. It also tells how to draw up the agreement and explains some of the tax considerations.

HOME AND GARDEN BULLETINS

Ants in the home and garden: How to control them. (G 28) 8 p. 25¢.

This revision tells how to locate the ant nest—the first step in the control of ants in the home, in lawns, and in gardens. Next, it explains how to get rid of infestations by the proper application of chlordane and other insecticides. Finally, it explains precautions that should be taken in the handling of insecticides.

Protecting home-cured meat from insects. (G 109) 6 p. 25¢.

This revised bulletin describes insects that commonly attack home-cured meat, and it tells how they may be controlled. The insects discussed are cheese skippers, mites, red-legged ham beetles, and larder beetles. The bulletin describes preventive measures that will control the insects and mites and lists precautions in the use of insecticides.

Lamb in family meals: A guide for consumers. (G 124) 21 p. 30¢.

Once a seasonal meat served chiefly in spring, juicy and flavorful lamb is now available throughout the year. Lamb, like other meats, is rich in essential body-building protein, in iron, and in the B vitamins. This revision provides consumers with tips on selecting quality lamb, help in estimating how much lamb to buy to feed a family, a guide to storing lamb, directions and timetables for cooking lamb, and main dish recipes featuring lamb. The bulletin also contains illustrations to help consumers identify lamb cuts they are likely to find in retail markets.

Your money's worth in foods. (G 183) 28 p. 50¢.

LEAFLETS

The fowl tick: How to control it. (L 382) Folder. 25¢.

This publication describes the fowl tick (also called the bluebug or chicken tick), which injures poultry by sucking blood. It prefers chickens, but also attacks other poultry, chiefly turkeys, and occurs mostly in southern States. Heavy infestations can kill fowl. The leaflet explains identification, and gives control methods by the use of insecticides, sanitation, and management.

Growing black walnuts for home use. (L 525) 9 p. 25¢.

This leaflet describes improved varieties of black walnut trees, and discusses when, where, and how to plant them, how to space and care for them, how to improve the soil, and instructions on how to harvest the nuts. The discussion includes the control of diseases and insects.

SLIDE SETS AND FILMSTRIPS

The following materials are available by purchase only. Purchase slide sets from Photography Division, Office of Communication, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Order filmstrips from Photo Lab, Inc., 3825 Georgia Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20011. Narrative guides for lecture notes accompany each.

Trends in agriculture and related subjects. A-55. Released 1973. 186 frames. $25.00.

One hundred and eighty-six self-explanatory color slides from charts and graphs developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for its annual Agricultural Outlook Conference. Include them in any talk you give about agriculture, population and rural development, today's family, food prices, medical care prices, children's clothing budgets, foreign policy and trade, or the domestic situation—such as land and its use, marketing developments, and farm inputs, outputs, and costs.

The peaceful revolutionists. C-191. Released 1973. 195 frames. Slide set $50.00. Filmstrip $20.00. Price includes cassette.

Discusses food prices, living standards, and tells what took place in agriculture and related fields over the past 25 years to produce a revolution that has freed the American public from the need to grow its own food.

What's happening to food prices? C-192. Released 1973. 153 frames. Slide set $35.00. Filmstrip $15.00. Price includes cassette.

This presentation gives detailed insight into the situations that have led to the current high food prices.

Selecting and buying food for the young family. C-121. Released 1966. 36 frames. Slide set $13.00. Filmstrip $5.50.

A guide to a homemaker in deciding how to serve the most nourishing meals to her family. It also gives helpful hints on how to economize on the family budget while shopping for groceries.
